CONGRESSIONAL HAPPENINGS IN WASHINGTON

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress,
Seventh Ohio District

The report of the Roberts Commission on the Pearl Harbor investigation has been the chief topic of discussion in Congressional cloak rooms during the past week. A number of the national legislators have voiced the opinion that the Pearl Harbor report did not go far enough in fixing final responsibility for governmental policies prior to the tragedy for failure of the War and Navy Departments here to make certain that their orders for the protection of Hawaii were carried out, and for the lack of needed men, equipment and supplies in the islands. While a considerable demand has been heard for a further Congressional investigation of the Hawaiian affair, on last Thursday the Naval Affairs Committee of the House by a vote of 14 to 6 tabled a resolution calling for an official inquiry and it is now believed that the matter will not be further considered at this time. However, as a result of the lesson learned at Pearl Harbor, and the report of the Roberts Commission, far-reaching changes will come in American war policies. Some important changes have already been made effective, such as the establishment of control or unified commands in Hawaii, Panama, the Caribbean, and other important defense areas, with one individual charged with final responsibility for all military and naval activities in the territory over which he has been given supervision. It is expected this policy will soon be extended to cover the complete field of American military and naval operations.

Early last week the arrival of an American expeditionary force in northern Ireland was announced, and it now seems that our soldiers and sailors are soon to be fighting in all parts of the world, for in a White House press conference, in answer to a query as to whether there were any other American expeditionary forces in the making, the President frankly stated that there are or will be within the near future six, eight or ten American expeditionary forces in operation. The announcement of the arrival of the American expeditionary force in Ireland brought forth some caustic comments in the Senate and House from those who expressed the definite belief that the first American troops sent over-seas should have been for the relief of the gallant General MacArthur and his fighting forces in the Philippines.

While, definite troop movements or military plans cannot be discussed in this column, it can be stated that heavy and wide-spread transfers of military and naval units have been going on in the past few weeks and are expected to continue for some time. As a result, many letters have been received from parents of men in the service complaining of their failure to receive any word from their sons, in answer to messages sent them. The anxiety of those at home under such conditions can be appreciated, but it should be pointed out that in all probability the sons, they are so anxious to hear from belong to units now being transferred to new assignments. The movements of troops or naval vessels must be kept secret to best guarantee the safety of the men participating therein. Once such movements are completed every effort will be made to re-open rapid communication between the men in the service and their loved ones at home. While under some conditions the men in uniform are not permitted to write home, every effort is always made to have letters from relatives reach the fighting men promptly. So those at home should keep on writing, filling their letters with good cheer and new little items that mean so much to the men in uniforms. Remember that in war time no news is usually good news.

Now that sugar is to be rationed, the question arises as to how great a sugar shortage actually exists. During the first World War sugar became scarce, sales were limited and prices rose to exorbitant levels—as high as thirty and forty cents per pound. But when the war ended American warehouses were found to be bulging with thousands of thousands of tons of sugar that could have been used during the war emergency. Sugar consumption in the United States during 1941 was approximately seven million tons, with about one million tons coming from the Philippines, which supply has now been cut off. There is a Cuban sugar surplus of approximately

Former Cedarvillian Goes To Boston To Head Food Dept.

S. A. POSTLE
—Courtesy Cincinnati Times-Star

Stuart A. Postle, 61, chief of the Federal Food and Drug Administration Cincinnati branch, since 1929, is to be transferred to the Boston office in March. Mr. Postle has been connected with both state and federal departments for a number of years. One of his first business ventures was when he located in Cedarville a number of years ago and with Herbert Gibson as a partner opened and operated a cheese factory here beside a creamery. The venture was not a financial success due to the scarcity of sufficient milk to make the business profitable. In those days but few farmers considered the dairy business even worth a trial. Mr. Gibson is an inspector and has been connected with the state department for many years. He has frequently visited dairy farms in this community.

Ralph W. Schulte Declared Sane

Ralph William Schulte, 37, Dayton, rural route 5, has been adjudged sane and was returned to Xenia from the Lima state hospital for arraignment in common pleas court on morals charges, to which he pleaded innocent by reason of insanity after being indicted by the Greene county grand jury.

Schulte was sent to the hospital last December 31 for a 30-day observation period and during that time displayed no mental disorders, according to Dr. R. E. Bushong, hospital superintendent.

Accused of having lured 10 girls between the ages of 7 and 12 to a Beaver Creek township shack, Schulte will probably be held in default of $25,000 bond, Prosecutor Shoup said. He was arrested December 10 after a joint investigation by Greene and Montgomery county authorities. A large quantity of stolen building materials was found in his possession.

Ross County Farmers Win On Protest

The war department announces that it had abandoned plans for the present, to open a military camp in part of Ross and Pickaway counties following protests from farm organizations in the two counties. It is said the war department had planned to take about 15,000 acres in each county for a large camp. The protest was that such a move would eliminate a large part of each county where the land was most productive. Farmers also charged that liquor and gambling interests were urging the opening of such a camp.

Y. S. News Sold To Morgan Interests

Six months ago the Yellow Springs News was sold by J. N. Wolford, who had published that paper for 36 years, to L. E. Bolling, son-in-law of Dr. Arthur E. Morgan of TVA fame. This week the sale of the same paper is confirmed when it passed to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Morgan, the former being a son of Dr. Morgan. Mr. Bolling is in Florida with his family on a vacation.

DRIVE TO CONTINUE

Scheduled to end last Saturday, the Greene county Red Cross chapter's $12,000 campaign for war relief will be continued until February 10 at the request of several townships which desire more time to complete solicitation work. Miss Katherine Smith, chapter executive secretary, announced, about $7,000 has been collected to date.

NO HIGH PRICES FOR FARMERS; PRICE CONTROL

Claude Wickard, secretary of Agriculture, threatened by the White House as being fired, turned against farm interests in his fight for higher prices for farm products, to hold his seat in the New Deal cabinet.

Wickard supported legislation favorable to farmers by passage of the price control bill but opposed price control under Leon Henderson, Communist price fixer.

Under White House pressure, Wickard turned traitor and is now advocating the very thing he opposed previously to the congressional vote.

When southern congressmen called on him for an explanation of his stand he admitted his position and that he would be compelled to throw millions of bushels of wheat and corn on the market should price of each get above parity. His statement broke the cotton market when it dropped $5 a bale costing growers $75,000,000 according to Sen. Bankhead.

Wickard was converted (under the threat of being fired) to plea that high prices for farm products would bring inflation. He even went so far as to say he would sell government corn much below market price to break any market that would give farmers a higher price.

The New York Times commenting on the Wickard switch has the following to say: "The dour faces and dour comments of the committee members were ironic commentary on the striking changed relations between these farm-bloc champions and the Secretary in the last few weeks." Two or three weeks ago Mr. Wickard was being hailed as the greatest friend of the farmers. Today he is branded as a traitor to all farm interests to save his political job.

Injured Deputy Returns to Duty

Recovered from three bullet wounds suffered in a Xenia shooting affray last November, Deputy Sheriff Joe Anderson, 39, returned to work Monday, according to Sheriff Walton Spahr. The deputy, who had been night turnkey, is working on the day shift at present, however.

Henry Jackson, 49, a former deputy who confessed shooting his successor in office, will stand trial February 11 on a shooting with intent to kill charge, on which he was indicted by the grand jury. He is free on $5,000 bond after pleading innocent.

Appointment is made by the Secretary of State. The Democratic committee will make a similar endorsement as there must be one from each political party.

Coach Orr Resigns And Has Accepted Government Job

PAUL ORR

Paul Orr, athletic coach of Cedarville High School for twelve years, has resigned to accept a position as junior instructor in the engineering department at Patterson Field supply depot. He entered upon his duties last Monday.

Coch Orr, a graduate of Cedarville College and Ohio State University, was the "dean" of high school coaches in the county schools. His last game with the local team was Friday night when the local team defeated Jamestown by a score of 22-30.

During the twelve years under Mr. Orr, his teams won more than 70 percent of their games. In baseball his teams won three championships. In track meets he won two and three runner-up pennants. Two girls' basketball championships.

The local team will be under Coach Fayette of Cedarville College for the two remaining county league basketball games with Spring Valley and Beaver Creek.

In Carnegie Church

A special service observing the one-third century pastorate of the Cedarville, Pa., Presbyterian Church was observed recently honoring Rev. James M. McQuilkin, D. D., who is a graduate of Cedarville College in the class of 1898. Another U. P. Pastor serving a third of a century who graduated from the local college is Dr. E. C. McCown at Mt. Lebanon in the same presbytery in which Rev. McQuilkin is located. Rev. Alvin Orr, D. D., retired minister, resides in Pittsburgh, and is a former Cedarvillian and graduated from Cedarville College in the first graduating class in 1897.

During the McQuilkin pastorate 2,997 persons have united with the church. He has baptized 900 babies, 339 adults and solemnized 338 marriages. Total contributions have amounted to $225,500, an average of $25,000 a year. Membership at present is above 1,400. He has taught the Brotherhood class for 35 years and the average attendance the past twenty years was about 100.

Congress To Control

Milk Prices

Under the decision of the United States Supreme Court rendered Monday, Congress has the right to fix the price of all milk through the department of agriculture where local milk supply comes in contact with the milk supply from other states. While the decision affects the price in many cities it will have an effect on the price of all milk, so far as what farmers will receive. At present the Department of Agriculture has fixed a price on milk in the Cincinnati milk shed to farmers which permits distributors to pay the union wage of $40 a week to drivers of milk trucks. The department fixes a price with a reasonable profit at which distributors sell the milk but cost of production for the farmer gets little or no protection.

NO TIRES FOR PREACHERS

Ministers are just ordinary citizens when it comes to preference in getting automobile tires, according to a ruling this week. Some county boards had been giving tire permits to ministers but this has been stopped.

CORN NOTICES MAILED

Farmers cooperating with the AAA have received notices for the 1942 corn allotment, a ten per cent increase being allowed over the 1941 acreage.

THREE JUDGES HEAR GREAT PROTEST SUIT

The first three-judge federal court ever to sit in Dayton heard the suit of Roscoe S. Fithian, farmer, asking judgment against the AAA constitution and declaring the AAA law unconstitutional.

On the bench were Judges Florence Allen, sixth circuit court of Appeals, Cleveland, who presided, with Judges Robert R. Nevins, Dayton, and John H. Druffel, Cincinnati.

The suit was brought in Fithian's name in behalf of farm members of the Farmers Protective Association, covering twenty southwestern counties who protest the 40-cent penalty for over-production. Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard was named defendant along with members of the Montgomery county AAA committee. A temporary injunction suit was heard in December when the government agreed not to attempt to collect a penalty pending the suit and final settlement.

Council for the farm interests were Judge Harry N. Root, and Webb R. Clark, Dayton, and John R. L. York and Carroll Hunter, for the government, both of Washington, D. C.

Council for the farmers based unconstitutionality largely on grounds farmers had no notice of the increase of the penalty from 15c to 40c. That regulations are not consistent with the "due process of law" clause under the fifth amendment to the constitution. Time of passage of the AAA act, signature of the President making it a law, notice of the referendum having been issued before the act was law, all figured in the arguments.

Council for the government stressed the need of advice, government aid and planning for farmers, many of whom could not manage their affairs profitably to themselves—a form of guardianship. Attorney Hunter read at great length from the department book of instructions as to operation of the wheat control act. Both sides argued pro and con over similarity of the tobacco act to that controlling wheat, it being pointed out by Justice Roberts, U. S. Supreme Court, that the constitution did not prohibit the regulation of crop production, nor any crop until it was converted into a product that would come under the Interstate Commerce act.

All three judges asked many questions as the arguments were presented. Judge Allen taking the lead. Some of the questions asked of Attorney Hunter were not answered when the case was submitted. Briefs will be presented by both sides to the Court and the judges will meet Saturday, February 14 in Cincinnati for review and consultation before a decision is rendered. It may be that whatever way the decision goes the case will be carried to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Darke Co. Farmer Causes Arrest Of AAA Committeeman

Democratic Darke county farmers are lined up for and against the AAA wheat allotment and the penalty with some 2,500 members of a county organization opposing the plan.

Jerry Emrick, Butler Twp., stated that he repeatedly warned E. M. McGuff, AAA agent, to stay off his farm for any purpose. The charge is that McGuff entered the farm during the absence of the owner to measure his wheat. He now faces a charge of trespassing and the case has been assigned for trial on February 26, in Common Pleas court before a jury. The hearing was held Saturday and it is reported some 500 farmers tried to crowd into the limited court room for the preliminary hearing. The AAA situation in that county is said to have reached a critical stage which has resulted in numerous fist fights among different farmers.

Ralph E. Cummings With New Company

Ralph E. Cummings, Xenia, Ave., who resigned recently as assistant general manager of the Cedarville Delomite Products Co., is now engaged in special work for Blue Rock, Inc., Washington, D. C.

The Washington company is undergoing an extensive expansion program, including the erection of a new agricultural limestone plant. This company also maintains a storage plant and office at South Charleston. Inasmuch as Blue Rock, Inc., was successful bidder for the AAA limestone contract for Greene and Clark counties, Mr. and Mrs. Cummings will continue to maintain their residence in Cedarville.

THE CEDARVILLE HERALD

Published at Cedarville, Ohio, Tuesday, February 2, 1942

ANY MORE TO BE BELIEVED?

The rubber shortage evidently is much like the Ickes gasoline shortage on the Atlantic coast last fall—mostly visionary and a method to sell the nation on the war. Without questioning the situation we are in, as regards to the war, the public is very skeptical of the so-called rubber shortage.

The public is denied tires due to a rubber shortage, yet Jesse Jones, Secretary of Commerce and head of the Refinance Corporation as well as New Dealer on several government boards, stated in the Tuesday press there was plenty of rubber and that it was being imported from South America at the rate of 35,000 tons a month and that the surplus of crude in the nation amounted to 600,000 tons.

A few weeks ago Jones informed the public, Philippine rubber was not coming into the country because most of our shipping capacity was on the Atlantic taking butter, beans, beef, pork and lard to England and returning loaded with Scotch whisky and English china and woolen goods.

About the best crop being turned out by the New Deal are public and professional liars on matters that are of vital importance to the public. As Radio Commentator Kaltenborn stated a few evenings ago, the different agencies in Washington should at least get together and tell the same rubber story, whether true or not.

Like the AAA reports to farmers, the automobile world will soon get a belly-full of the deceit and deception forced on the nation during a war emergency. We would rather believe the Scotch whisky was having a telling effect on official Washington.

TWENTY STUDENTS OFFER SACRIFICE—AAA GREEDY

Twenty young men and women who are students of Harding College, Searcy, Ark., endowed by events of the times and their desire for loyalty to the nation during war, wanted to do something for their country.

Each had been receiving $10.50 a month, a total of $210 a month, from the National Youth Administration. They decided the government needed the money more than they needed such support and they all took up outside employment to earn enough to put them through school.

They communicated with NYA headquarters in Washington and the unusual did not happen there, as Aubrey Williams, the administrator of NYA issued an insulting blast through the press, rather than thanking the students for their generosity. He stated "That if Harding College students did not want NYA money, plenty of students in other colleges do want it and they will get it."

In contrast we call the attention of Chairman Joseph B. Mason of the Greene County AAA to the offer of the Harding College students. When Master Farmer O. A. Dobbins issued a statement that he would be willing, and he thought other farmers would also be willing to drop acceptance of government checks under the AAA for the duration of the war. The Dobbins statement has been endorsed by many farm publications but it was Mr. Mason who gave a public reply to Mr. Dobbins' proposal that implied rebuke because such a movement would cut the AAA managers off the government payroll. Contrast the generous proposal of young folks willing to sacrifice their stipend of government support with the veiled greed of Mr. Mason to hold on to his public salary, which is evidently much more than the average farmer can net from a 150-acre farm.

The AAA and New Deal congressmen are determined to keep their fingers on the government's money bowl, regardless of what it costs farmers or urban citizens.

SENATOR BURTON ASKS PENSION REPEAL

Senator Burton, Republican, Ohio, has introduced a bill to abolish a proposed New Deal life pension for members of congress and Franklin D. Roosevelt, which was railroaded through congress by New Deal leaders. To the credit of the Ohio Republican delegation, let it be understood it opposed the measure but had no choice for individual vote due to the fact the New Dealers did not want a record vote.

A wave of criticism has swept the nation over the passage of the act and now a number of Democratic members are asking repeal, especially in the Senate. House New Dealers are opposing repeal.

That such a thing should be contemplated when members draw $10,000 salaries while the whole nation is being taxed to death to pay for the New Deal billion dollar deficit outside of the billions needed for war purposes is almost unbelievable yet not unexpected when you take into consideration you have as irresponsible spend-thrift in the White House as could be found in the slums of any city. The family record is all that is necessary for proof of the national debt. Gov. Lehman, D., New York, just last summer finished paying the last of the hundred million dollar debt Franklin Roosevelt left when he was governor of that state.

At Capone paid his debt in prison for no greater or serious crime to society than is being inflicted upon the people of this nation today in the graft and reckless spending of the New Dealers.

Democratic chairman Edward J. Flynn thinks the Republicans have planned to upset the war and accuses leaders of not being loyal to the government. Some New Dealers have also urged that all congressional elections be abolished for the duration of the war—that they can keep covered the present day grafting on war contracts while parading behind the American flag. The pension plan is a plain steal on the part of the New Deal. The Republicans have taken the lead to stop it and will have public sentiment behind them regardless of New Deal excuses in the future.

Have You Received Your Corn Increase Of Usual Acreage

The Indiana Farmers Guide, issue of February 1, Secretary Wickard issued the following statement: "Corn producers in the commercial corn areas who wish to exceed their acreage allotments by planting up to their usual acreage in order to have more feed may do so without incurring reduction in other payments." This statement was issued Jan. 16, 1942 by Secretary Wickard.

Have you received such a notice from the Greene County AAA Committee? If not you should inquire WHY?

Mrs. Lucy Barber was honored by members of the Filch Club and neighbors Tuesday evening on the occasion of her eighty-eighth birthday. The evening was spent in games followed by refreshments. Those present were: Mrs. Anna Wilson, Mrs. Cora Trumble, Mrs. Charles Kimble, Mrs. Wilbur Loomis, Mrs. E. H. Little, Mrs. Ethel Buck, Mrs. Pearl Huffer, Mrs. Leo Anderson, Mrs. C. M.

Gordon, Mrs. James Duffield, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Townsley, Misses Mary Williamson, Josie Charlton and Bernice Kimble.

Mr. E. A. Drake, county agent, will address members of the Cedarville Progressive Club in the M. E. Church, Monday night on the subject: "Rural and Urban Relationship." The members are requested to bring a guest as it will be "Guest Night." Dinner will be served promptly at 7:00 P. M.

Six Greene county schools will have contestants in the annual "Good Citizenship Pilgrimage" contest sponsored by the D. A. R. and the State Department of Education at the Court House, Saturday under the direction of County Superintendent Harry B. Pickering. Margaret Stormont represents the local school, Muriel Sammons, Osborn; Mary Tibbs, Yellow Springs; Betty Alexander, Spring Valley; Margaret Webb, Silvercreek. Papers to be graded by the state department.

Mrs. C. W. Steele, who has been ill for several days, is reported much improved.

BUY DEFENSE STAMPS

At the recent farm defense meeting in Columbus, a New Deal representative from Cleveland in speaking about the rubber tire situation stated there had been a great duplication in the rural districts in regard to collection of milk, distribution of bread and other everyday commodities, as well as double tracking of school buses, all of which must and will be discontinued in the near future. Instead a plan must be worked out where only one milk truck will cover a certain territory the same day and the same for bread. This would mean farmers will have to sell their product to whatever company is assigned to a certain territory by the federal authorities. Such a plan would be necessary to save rubber tires which would be scarcer as the months go by.

We read of the death a few days ago of Samuel E. Kiser, 80, at his home in New Rochelle, N. Y. He was for two years editor of the Dayton News, having come to that city from Chicago where he wrote a daily column for the now extinct Chicago Record-Herald. Leaving Dayton he joined the New York American. Kiser is the author of a number of books. Well does the writer remember him and many times have we enjoyed his fellowship while in Dayton. He was a bosom friend of the late Wilbur D. Nesbit and often accompanied Mr. Nesbit here when the latter came to Cedarville to spend a day with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Nesbit.

Sen. Tidings, D., Md., is demanding a congressional investigation into the rubber shortage. He seems to have information there is more rubber in the country than the government admits. He might investigate the story in rubber circles that certain financial interests have two million in rubber in hiding in this country for speculative purposes, knowing far in advance the government had a plan worked out to take over the rubber control. The Pearl Harbor attack dumped the set-up onto the public over night. Rubber is not the only thing that might be investigated. The Senator might investigate reports of the enormous profits New Dealers have taken in the wheat and corn pits previous to Wickard's announcement that a few million bushels of grain was to be thrown on the market to send prices down to lower levels.

Prof. Lowry Nelson of the University of Minnesota in an address before "Farmer's Week" in that state stated that a draft for farm labor will be necessary to harvest crops this season. He was critical of the federal system of trying to supply farm labor, most of which is unfit for the farm in any rural section. He suggests a selective system for drafting farm labor just as we have for the army. He says if the farmers are to contribute the food to win the war they must be provided the right kind of labor at wages farmers can afford to pay. In other words New Deal wages cannot be paid for farm labor at present government controlled prices. If farm labor was drafted and assigned to a certain farm the laborer could not leave without word from Washington when probably the farm owner and the laborer by mutual consent might agree to any form of "deception." Drafting labor as suggested by the Professor is much after the plan advocated by Mrs. Roosevelt for drafting female help as "farmettes" at so much a month in the field or factory. We hope Mrs. Roosevelt's plan is adopted. The experience would be one of the economic novelties of the age.

We hear what is regarded as a truthful statement of a local citizen who applied for a civil service job at Fairfield. Application was made and in a few days notice was received to report the following day. Not knowing just what kind of work he would be assigned to, he stressed the necessity of knowing beforehand as he had a decent job and wages in Cedarville. There was then intimation that he had applied for a job and it was open and yelled threats were made that he could be forced to accept. Not liking the manner in which his application was treated, there was a called conference among "higher-ups" at Fairfield and at once he was informed that his status was changed and that he was to be assigned to a job at $1,800 a year instead of $1,350 under his original application. He is now on the $1,800 job.

Secretary Morgenthau, a Fifth Ave. New York playboy, chum of FDR, Secretary of the Treasury having the authority over Federal Housing projects last week placed his 25-year-old son in charge of a huge project in Cleveland at a salary of $15,000 a year and expenses. Being of draft age and single this should be interesting to the sons of Democratic families serving in the army "somewhere" at $21 a month. As the war is on both sides of this country even the front pages of the daily press no longer carry stories of assignments and promotion for the Roosevelt sons. Where are they and why the sudden disappearance from the public press?

When FDR spent last week with the statement that "somewhere" should be driven out of the White House to make room for more British delegations and the 35,000 new appointees to be added this spring to care for "extra war activities," desk soldiers of the "Cape" House type, a hornet's nest was torn wide open. FDR in his caustic remark did not have reference to the "red-light" district in Washington but to the social and political set that desires to be close to upper-crust society during the winter season, a large part of which comes from its own Fifth Ave., crowd in New York. We are informed the list of those that sat at the White House table each day in numbers a least, rival some of the $12 and $15 a day hotels in that city. Every effort has been made to smooth over the FDR remark as the feminine of the "parasite" group started at once to discuss some of the "inside social backfence" news "that seldom gets into public print. Sherman described war in terse statements but the social set is now letting their tongues ramble down in Washington.

William J. Cherry Died Monday

William J. Cherry, 78, for many years a prominent farmer in this township, died suddenly at his home north of Xenia on the Springfield pike. Death was due to heart trouble and took place at 2:30 o'clock Monday.

The deceased was the son of David and Mary Watt Cherry and spent most of his life as a farmer on the Federal pike. He was a member of the First United Presbyterian church in Xenia where he served as an elder for twenty-five years.

Mr. Cherry was married October 1, 1895 to Miss Anna Hutchison, the daughter of William and Jennie Hutchison, and following her death was married to Miss Emma Jean Davidson, Xenia, who is well known in musical circles.

Besides his widow he is survived by one son, Raymond, by the first marriage and two grandchildren; two brothers, Huston K. Cedarville and David W. Cherry, Xenia, a member of the firm of Galloway & Cherry, besides a number of nieces and nephews.

The funeral was conducted from the First U. P. Church, Xenia, Thursday afternoon. Burial took place in Woodland Cemetery.

COLLEGE HOMECOMING TO BE HELD SATURDAY NIGHT

Plans have been completed for Cedarville College's annual Homecoming to be held Saturday, February 7 at the Alford Memorial Gymnasium. Dinner is to be served at 6 o'clock. Following the dinner an interesting program will be presented. An orchestra composed mainly of college students will play. It will be directed by Edward Baas, Cedarville High School music instructor.

Coach C. D. Pyatte and his Cedar cagers anticipate a close, hard-fought battle when they tangle with Bluffton College in the traditional Homecoming game. After the game, dancing, and an informal social hour of visitation will be enjoyed.

Though the college has made various adjustments to conform to the present day needs, Homecoming has not been affected. Persons in charge hope for a record crowd. A special effort should be made by local Cedarville alumni to attend.

The cost of sixty-five cents (65c) covers all the evening's proceedings; a good dinner, an interesting program, an exciting basketball game, dancing and the fond visitation with old friends and former classmates.

REGENT—"Hellzapoppin"

Used has never dared to do before. Enough of a plot has been provided for Olsen and Johnson to work in the most famous hits from the original stage show. There's the lady who stands for Oscar who gets herself into all sorts of trouble, and the pliant little man who tries to deliver a plant to Mrs. Jones, the plant growing bigger and larger throughout the show.

The only moment of peace and quiet, with no monkey business going on, is during Olive Hatch's beautifully spectacular Water Ballet.

Entirely new comedy of Olsen and Johnson are Martha Raye, Hugh Herbert and Misha Auer who abandon all restraint and out loose to have the time of their lives. An appealing romance is provided by pretty Jane Frazee and Robert Paige, which serves as a humane breathing spell to save the laughter-stricken audience from prostration.

Muscle and songs by Don Raye and Gene de Paul are tuneful and swingy, with "Watch the Birdie," a sure-fire favorite with the jitterbug and juke-box crowds. Dance in dynamite, with one number in particular, a hurricane Harlem inspiration called "The Conger" breaking all existing speed records with acrobatic antics.

YOU FIGURE IT—WE CAN'T

To the Editor:—

I am puzzled to know how some farmers can get rich by not farming. I have gone along with the plan. Raisin-hogs. They say we must have more pork but how can we get feed for it?

Cutting off 10 acres for corn means the average yearly loss to me of some 800 bushels of corn. Allowing 25 bushels to feed out a hog, this acreage would fatten 32 head of 250 pound hogs for market. At 12c a pound each hog would bring $39, or a total of $960.

How can I expect much profit by taking a government check for around $200? I must admit there is some labor in producing 10 acres of corn and feeding 32 hogs. For this labor I would get $200 but by cooperating I only get $200—of course I do not have to work to get it. I must pay the same tax on the ten acres work or no work, so I am satisfied myself with the extra profit by my own labor.

A Farmer For Profit

COLLEGE NEWS

Cedarville's Yellow Jacket cagers met with varied success on last week's trip. Friday evening at Van Wert, Ohio, Cedarville lost to Giffin College the only team which they had previously beaten this year. In a match-box gymnasium, Giffin took the measure of the cramped Cedar and blue invaders, 51-44. It was Cedar's third Indiana-Ohio Conference loss in four starts. The leading scorers for Cedarville were Harry Stoneburner with 19 points and Hank Campbell with 16 tallies.

Saturday the Jackets got back into action with a vengeance and trounced Indiana Tech for their second win in the IOC. After losing to Tech on the Cedar floor by one point earlier in the season, Coach Fayette's regular put the bee on the Indiana cagers, 36-25. They were led in scoring by Campbell again. He tallied 17 points. The game was played in Fort Wayne. "Bluffton is the next foe on the Cedarville schedule. They will face them in the Homecoming battle tomorrow night in Alford Gymnasium.

WILBERFORCE NEWS

Mrs. Ransom will be hostess Thursday evening to the A. K. A. Sorority.

The Darning Club met Tuesday, Jan. 27, with Mrs. Points and will hold the next meeting February 10 with Mrs. Brickler.

The Holy Trinity Women's Missionary Society held its monthly meeting Monday evening, with Mrs. Clarke. Attendance and reports were very satisfactory. Our missionary from South Africa, Mrs. Nombi Tanti reported as still in New York because of inability to get passage during these months of danger.

Wilberforce Neighborhood Club will meet next Tuesday at 2:45 with Mrs. Mary Lee. Quotations from Washington, Lincoln, Douglas, Payne.

Wilberforce's first observance of Freedom Day was most satisfactory. Major R. R. Wright, the originator of the idea, has succeeded in getting a bill before Congress to make this a national observance day. He will likely succeed. This was the 77th anniversary of the passing of the Thirteenth Amendment to the Constitution. The message of the morning service was given by Bishop Ransom. He spoke from two texts, the first, Romans 11:17, and it was from this that came the inspiration of his subject: "The Wild Olive of American Democracy." Most interesting was the difference he made between the coming to America of the various immigrants, explaining that none of the white groups were grafted here, or they would have taken on the ways and customs of the American Indian; but those who came from Africa, coming from widely scattered tribes, left all that was African behind and could only become "grafted" into what they found here. Of all groups to come to America, the Negro has been the most assimilable.

The speaker of the afternoon was Hon. Arthur Mitchell, Congressman from the First District, Illinois. His subject, "The Thirteenth Amendment and Negro Freedom." In introducing the speaker, Bishop Wright said: "We are molding an opinion that should be valuable to the thinking people of the world." The speaker introduced his subject by saying, "When the Bill of Rights was drawn up it meant nothing to the Negro, but to-day you are met to celebrate what makes you a party to the Bill of Rights." Mr. Mitchell most interestingly read excerpts from several of his speeches in Congress. In each he was for all-out Americanism, but always adding that the Negro be given the one-hundred per cent recognition earned by his unflinching loyalty to the flag. He also read his brief to the Supreme Court when as a lawyer he pleaded his own case, the result being that now equal accommodation must be given to all well-behaved citizens in Pullman travel through the South as elsewhere.

Mrs. Clyde Hutchinson and two children of Buffalo, N. Y., arrived here Wednesday for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. West. Dr. Hutchinson, of Buffalo University is now in Charlottesville, Va., at the University of Virginia as chemist for National Defense Council.

Mr. and Mrs. John Richards, of Mason, O., were week-end guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Richards, Sunday.

one million two hundred thousand tons available for American use. Under the New Deal agricultural policy production of American sugar has been greatly restricted. In the best sugar areas of Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and the far West, planting was so limited by governmental order that many sugar refineries were forced to close. While restrictions on sugar production within continental United States have now been lifted for this year, the crops must first be planted, harvested and refined before the home produced sugar can reach American tables. Sugar production in Cuba, Mexico, Central and South America, will also be increased. It is claimed that the sugar shortage results from the need to use sugar for the manufacture of alcohol for war purposes. However, alcohol of exactly the same chemical content and nature can be made from corn, wheat and other grains, of which there are great surpluses, at a cost comparable to that of alcohol from sugar. A Congressional investigation of the so-called sugar shortage may come soon.
